

Project Expansion Delivers Simplicity Across All Creative Sectors

Music Gateway - leading the way in business innovation and online creativity

Following recent investment that values Music Gateway at a benchmark £1 million, the company has rapidly put the funds to good use with their rapid user growth and major expansion of their industry project types. The brand new create project engine supports their growth strategy to drive their services across all of the creative sectors, including TV, Film, Gaming and Advertising. The company that prides itself on creating a simple and user-friendly platform is going full steam ahead with this new wizard style functionality.

Music Gateway helps level the playing field across the music industry and provides a streamlined way for individuals and companies to connect, conduct business and transact. The key is that connections are only made when there is a goal defined and a matched provider. The new project wizard allows new users to create projects as part of sign up process, further saving valuable time.

“Our recent private investment has allowed us to forge ahead with our rapid expansion plans. As a marketplace, we had to phase in the types of projects we offered to our founder members. We have now seen rapid user growth in May with more than 3,500 new users registered, which is over our estimated target and fantastic news. The investment has allowed us to grow the team with highly experienced staff, providing more personal service to deliver on our commitment to engage and support our users. We have some exciting developments to announce very soon, so watch this space.”
Jon Skinner - CEO & Founder

The new project creation tool will also see the implementation of location filtering, which will enable users from around the world to select specific locations for their project needs. The result is a highly streamlined flow of new niche project types, stretching from Hire, Gig Bookings to Sync, Licensing, and A&R placements.
